

NEW TENDERLON TAKING FORM

Deals Being Closed for Property in Proposed Red Light District on West Side.

MAYOR APPROVES PLAN

RESORTS TO BE ERECTED ON NEW INTERIOR STREETS.

Property is being bought in the block between First and Second South streets and Fourth and Fifth West streets for a new Salt Lake red-light district. The work of purchasing the desired ground has progressed quietly for weeks past and has been kept as profound a secret as possible, through fear that if knowledge of the undertaking became general there would be strenuous opposition to the moving of the tenderlon to the western part of the city by the owners of the surrounding property.

It is the purpose of those who are back of the scheme to get a large portion of the west side block, which is now the site of the old city hall, and to erect thereon buildings suitable for the intended purpose and to be erected. Facing the streets, the buildings will be occupied by saloons and stores.

A new thoroughfare will be cut through the property and this will be lined by the houses intended for the women of the under-world. These houses will be of modern design and so constructed that they can be kept under constant police surveillance.

Some of the needed ground has already been purchased. The deeds of the land which has been paid for have not been recorded, as it is the purpose of those back of the project to hold them until all of the deals are closed.

Authorities Approve Plan.

The men who are engineering the proposition say they have an understanding with the city authorities, and that they have received the assurance that the tenders of the under-world will be compelled to move from Commercial street, Victoria alley and their other haunts to the new district.

The man who is taking the lead in the undertaking is A. R. Carter of 523 West First South street.

Prospects of profitable investment in the new tenderlon have attracted not only the keepers of Salt Lake resorts, but persons from the under-world who are contemplating the same.

A notorious woman of Ogden has invested $20,000 in the new district and other women who have profited in the red-light district here have invested substantial sums.

Bransford's Views.

Mayor Bransford, when asked about the report of the moving of the tenderlon yesterday, said:

"The matter has been discussed for some time. For my part, I think it is a good idea. We do not want the tenderlon in the heart of the business district of Salt Lake.

"If the resorts of Commercial street were compelled to seek new locations, Commercial street would become a desirable wholesale district.

"Scattered as the tenderlon resorts now are, it is difficult for the police to give them proper supervision. In the new district arrangements could be made so that the police could preserve order.

"The menace to the morals of the young of such places as Commercial street has engaged my attention for some time. I have gone to that street to study it, and I must certainly have a demoralizing effect upon the young and the doing away with such a spot as the center of the city would be a step in the right direction."

Chief Pitt's Attitude.

The plan to create a new tenderlon on the west side is in line with the recommendation made by Chief of Police Pitt some time ago to the city council.

Speaking of the proposed new district last night, Chief Pitt said: "The plan will be all right if no effort is made to invade a residence district. In that case it would not meet with my approval. The tenderlon resorts will remain where they now are unless the city council is satisfied it is in every way satisfactory."

Mrs. S. Joyce, 191 Sullivan St., Claremont, N. H., writes: "About a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It cured me of a severe case of kidney trouble of several years' standing. It certainly is a grand, good medicine, and I heartily recommend it." F. J. Hill Drug Co., "The Never Substitutors."

CHURCH WORK IS DISCUSSED

Episcopal Clergymen in Convocation Discuss Progress of the Church.

BROAD FIELD IS COVERED

LIQUOR HAMPER ENDEAVORS AMONG THE INDIANS.

The third day of the annual Episcopal convocation of Utah was filled with interest for the clergymen who are in attendance. For them the private conference in the afternoon, to which the public was not invited, was of extreme importance. During that conference the ministers had heart to heart talks among themselves, following closely the published program. Dean Brewster spoke on "Canon XIX," Rev. Paul Jones on "The Mormon and Our Duty," and Rev. A. Brown on "Church Federation." In addition the Rev. L. C. Stanford spoke on the eighth missionary department and how the money for the work is apportioned.

In the forenoon the Rev. A. George spoke on the growth of the church, he pointed out the difficulty which church extension encounters in this state, basing his remarks on the statistics of church growth.

Bishop Edward J. Knight of Western Colorado spoke on "The Institutional Church." He related his experiences as rector of the Christ church at Trenton, N. J., and told how the church reached out through the industrial classes by means of girls' and boys' societies and men's clubs.

The Rev. C. E. Perkins of St. Paul's, in this city, who was a delegate to the conference in Portland of the eighth department, which includes all of the states west of the Rocky mountains, told of the work of the conference and how the work was distributed and described the main points brought out.

Evening Meeting.

In the evening the Rev. M. J. Hersey of Randlett, Utah, told about the difficulties encountered in extending the church missionary work among the new settlers and Indians. Liquor, he declared, was one of the most serious obstacles in the way.

The Rev. Charles Tanshield of Provo spoke on the "Unoccupied Parts of Utah," giving an outline of a plan to tour the state for the purpose of investigating the true conditions and also for the purpose of holding services.

The Rev. D. K. Johnson of "The Eastern Helper" gave an entertaining address on local self support.

Bishop Knight was the last to address the convocation in the evening. He said that the outlook was encouraging, and that he based this view upon results during the year, when in the mining town of agricultural district. He believed in work among the adults as well as among the children, for if the parents become converts it necessarily follows that the children also will follow the faith of the church.

The forenoon resolutions, which no doubt will be interesting and highly important, will be read. The convocation will finish its official work today, although a number of the visitors will remain over Sunday.

DESK GIVEN TO PARKER

Retiring Manager of the Elgin Company Pleasantly Surprised by Employees.

As a token of their appreciation of his many courtesies during their years of service together, the employees of the Elgin Dairy & Creamery company yesterday presented to L. N. Parker, the retiring manager, a handsome rolltop desk.

Mr. Parker severed his connection with the company yesterday afternoon. He was in the office of the company, and he presented the desk to the retiring manager. The presentation was a complete surprise to Mr. Parker, but he managed to express his thanks. Later he gave an automobile party for the employees, taking them for a trip of several hours about the city.

Mr. Parker has several business engagements under consideration, but is not yet ready to announce his plans. He went into the Elgin company about four years ago and built it up from a losing proposition to a paying one. The sale of the control of the stock recently to the Elgin company was a business arrangement of the company.

HUSBAND ENJOINED FROM KILLING OR MAIMING HIS WIFE

This Blow at Marital Rights a Feature of Excruciating Exposure of Matrimonial Misfits—Glimpses of Weekly Divorce Matinee.

Three divorce cases were heard and two decrees granted by Judge Morse at his regular matinee yesterday afternoon. In addition he granted an injunction restraining J. J. Knox from killing, maiming or in any way interfering with his wife, Leonora L. B. Knox, who has sued him for divorce.

In the office of the county clerk three wives filed complaints asking that they be separated from their unfaithful

HUSBAND'S HIGH FINANCE.

E. P. Gordon appears to be a financier of ability. His wife, Anna Gordon, yesterday asked a divorce because two weeks after she married him he borrowed $500 from her and she has not seen him or the money since.

Well, about two weeks later, before going down town in the morning, he asked me to loan him the $500 I had in the bank in order that he might close a mining deal. He said he would give me back the money at 2 o'clock that afternoon, and also $100 more. Two o'clock came and he did not show up. I waited until 5 o'clock and then went out to hunt for him. I found no trace and have not seen him from him since, and his friends here don't even know where he is.

"Why, he even left me the room rent to pay," she continued, "and that was $5. I had to go borrow the money to pay it, and since he left I have been supporting myself and my five children by a former marriage by working at the Wilson hotel."

Mrs. Gordon stated that she is now under the impression that the only man who Gordon married her to get this money, which he knew she had. Previous to their marriage he lived in Pioche, Nev., and owns now 75,000 shares in the Last Chance mine.

The divorce was not granted because Judge Morse desires more evidence on the non-support allegation, the statutes requiring that the husband's ability to support his wife after the separation must be shown before a decree can be entered.

PRETTY GIRL WITH BABY.

Lorena S. Nink, a pretty little girl with a pretty little baby, secured a divorce from Lawrence A. Nink, a desert and refuse to support such a charming combination of wife and babe is hard to understand, but from the time she appears that he has done nothing for her for six months.

Lorena is but 18 years of age, and she was married in 1907, when she was hardly 17. Things seem to have gone along all right until the latter part of the year, when she learned that her husband had been working in a laundry and had earned about $12 a week.

Ernest Stewart, a brother, testified that for the past six months he has taken care of his sister and her child and has paid all the bills. Mrs. Nink was given $15 a month alimony and attorney's fees in addition to the divorce.

THREE WIVES COMPLAIN.

Sarah A. Jones objects to the convivial qualities of Benjamin T. Jones, who is in a divorce complaint filed yesterday she practically puts her spouse in a class with the "Three Wives" of the Bible. She complains that he is a "drunkard" and "a womanizer" and that he has been "living with" three other women while she has been waiting for him to come home.

The divorce was granted, and Mrs. Jones was given $10 a month alimony and attorney's fees in addition to the divorce.

INVASION OF YELLOWSTONE

Stagedrivers, Waitresses and Cooks Precede Annual Influx of Tourists.

Stage drivers, waitresses, cooks and others are pouring into Yellowstone park in advance of the summer influx of tourists. Last night about thirty stage drivers, who wintered at Los Angeles, started for the national park and in June 5 a special train will leave Los Angeles over the Salt Lake route with about 125 waitresses and cooks.

Salt Lake is also sending its quota of stage drivers, waitresses, cooks and others to the Yellowstone summer hotels. It is said that scores of hotel attaches make it a regular custom to spend their summers in the Yellowstone park and their winters in Salt Lake, Los Angeles and other cities.

Los Angeles gets the greater number of these migratory workers because of its numerous winter hotels. These hotels begin to add to their working forces about the time of the closing of the Yellowstone park and the number at the opening of the park season.
